The New Testament's Use of the Old Testament

A Survey of How, Where and Why the Writers Reach Back into Israel's Scriptures

One God, faithful across two programs that never merge. The New Testament writers were steeped in Israel's Scriptures; what they do with them depends on who they are writing to.

What this guide is. A survey. It shows how, where and how often the New Testament reaches into the Old, and what each writer appears to be doing when he does. It does not argue for or against any one theory. Each row says what the text marks, what the context shows, and what a reader has to infer.

Part 1 · Why the New Testament Uses the Old

Same Scriptures, different readers

The New Testament was written by men who knew Israel's Scriptures. Matthew, John, Peter, James, the writer to the Hebrews and Paul all cite, echo or retell them, and they do it for different readers and different purposes.

1. The Scriptures were the shared book. For the Jewish readers of the Gospels, Acts, Hebrews, James and 1 and 2 Peter, the Old Testament was the common ground. A writer could say "it is written" and be understood.
2. The audience differs, so the use differs. The Gospels, Acts 1–8, Hebrews, James, 1 and 2 Peter, Jude and Revelation address Israel or speak within Israel's line. Romans through Philemon are Paul's letters, written from the Mystery that Paul says was kept secret since the world began (Romans 16:25) and hid in God (Ephesians 3:9). The guide reports each use in its own letter and does not carry a use from one audience to another.

3. Paul quotes the Scriptures as written. Paul cites Israel's Scriptures for examples, for argument and for instruction. This guide does not say that the Old Testament foretold the Mystery, because Paul says it did not (Ephesians 3:5, 9).
4. Quotation does not rewrite. To cite a passage is not to change it. Where the New Testament uses an Old Testament text, the guide gives both texts, side by side, in the KJV.

Part 2 · Eight Kinds of Use, and One Interpretive Device

Quotation (direct and composite) · allusion (lexical, thematic, narrative, typological) · echo · parallel · and Paul's named allegory

Kind	What it is	Example in the chart
Quotation (direct)	The writer gives the Old Testament words from one source, often with a formula ("it is written," "that it might be fulfilled," "saith the scripture").	Matthew 1:22–23; Romans 4:3
Quotation (composite)	Words from more than one source, joined or placed under one introduction.	Mark 1:2–3; 2 Corinthians 6:16
Allusion (lexical)	No quotation, but the Old Testament's wording clearly matches.	1 Peter 2:9; Revelation 1:7
Allusion (thematic)	The New Testament text itself signals an Old Testament theme without quoting it.	None in the chart; see the search
Allusion (narrative)	The verse points to an Old Testament account or person and says so.	Hebrews 11:17–19

Kind	What it is	Example in the chart
Allusion (typological)	An Old Testament type set beside a New Testament antitype, in a pattern the New Testament text itself names ("figure," "examples," "as … even so"). Each shows the type, the antitype and the justification.	John 3:14; Romans 5:14; 1 Corinthians 10:1–11
Echo (verbal resonance)	The New Testament uses distinctive Old Testament vocabulary too rare to be accidental.	None in the chart; see the search
Parallel (non-dependent similarity)	The similarity is clear, but the New Testament gives no signal of dependence.	None in the chart; see the search
Interpretive Device (Pauline)	Paul's own named device in Galatians 4:21–31, where he says "an allegory" (4:24). It is not counted as an allusion or as typology, and no other allegorical reading is listed.	Galatians 4:21–31

The search page carries the same classification and lists hundreds of uses across the New Testament.

Three tags

Every row in the chart carries one. Marked by the text The New Testament passage itself states the link. Shown by the context The link is clear from the passage and its setting, but no formula states it. Inferred The link is drawn by a reader and is not stated. The chart uses the first two only, so a reader can see where the New Testament is explicit. (The search page adds a tag for parallels, which the text does not signal.)

Part 3 · The Major Old Testament Books the New Testament Uses

In canonical order. Not ranked.

The list is not ranked. A count would depend on method (whether allusions are counted, where quotations are drawn from), and this guide does not need one.

Genesis. Abraham's faith (15:6) and the promise to the nations (12:3) appear in Romans, Galatians, Hebrews and James; Adam appears in Romans 5.

Exodus. The commandments (20:12), the Passover and the covenant at Sinai appear in the Gospels, Paul's letters, Hebrews and 1 Peter.

Leviticus. The dwelling promise (26:12) appears in 2 Corinthians 6:16, and the sacrifices run through Hebrews.

Numbers. The bronze serpent (21:9) appears in John 3, and the wilderness account in 1 Corinthians 10.

Deuteronomy. The Lord answers the tempter from chapters 6–8 (Matthew 4), and the commandment to honour father and mother is repeated (5:16).

Psalms. Psalms 2, 22, 110 and 118, among others, are cited in the Gospels, Acts, Paul's letters and Hebrews.

Isaiah. Cited across the Gospels, Acts, Paul's letters, 1 Peter and Revelation (for example 7:14, 40:3, 53 and 61:1–2).

Jeremiah. The new covenant (31:31–34) is quoted at length in Hebrews 8.

Ezekiel. Echoed in 2 Corinthians 6:16 and in Revelation.

Daniel. The Son of man (7:13) is echoed in the Gospels and in Revelation 1:13.

Hosea. Cited in Matthew 2:15 and Romans 9:25–26.

Joel. Quoted at Pentecost (Acts 2:16–21).

Habakkuk. One verse (2:4) is quoted by three writers: Romans 1:17, Galatians 3:11 and Hebrews 10:38.

Zechariah. Cited in John 19:37 and echoed in Revelation 1:7.

Malachi. Quoted in Mark 1:2, in the account of John the Baptist.

Books not on the list are not unused. The list names the books the chart draws from.

Part 4 · What the New Testament Writers Are Doing

The same text, put to different uses for different readers

- Matthew ties events in the Lord's life to Israel's Scriptures with a repeated fulfilment formula ("that it might be fulfilled").
- Mark and Luke report the Lord's own use: Mark opens with "as it is written in the prophets," and Luke records the Lord reading Isaiah 61 in the synagogue.
- John sets the signs and events beside what "the scripture" says, and records the Lord's own comparison with the bronze serpent.
- Acts records Peter at Pentecost ("this is that which was spoken by the prophet Joel") and the apostles' use of Psalm 118 before the council.
- Hebrews builds an argument by laying Old Testament texts end to end (chapter 1) and quotes the new covenant of Jeremiah 31 as the covenant of the house of Israel and the house of Judah.
- James and 1 Peter write to Israel's scattered people (James 1:1; 1 Peter 1:1) and use Genesis and Exodus language in that setting.
- Paul quotes the Scriptures for argument (Romans 4), for example (1 Corinthians 10), for instruction (Ephesians 6:2) and, in one place, through a device he names himself, an allegory (Galatians 4:24). The seed is prophetic fulfillment in Christ; the Body receives blessing through Christ alone, not through participation in the Abrahamic covenant.
- Revelation draws its imagery from Daniel, Zechariah and others, mostly by allusion, and almost never names a source.

What the guide does not say. It does not say that every New Testament use is a prediction fulfilled, that every Old Testament person is a type, or that a text addressed to Israel was written to another audience. It reports the use and the audience and stops.

Part 5 · The Chart: 25 Uses at a Glance

Rows 1–15 from the Israel-line writers · rows 16–25 from Paul's letters (row 25 sets Paul beside Hebrews)

Rows 4, 5, 7, 10, 18 and 21 are composites (more than one Old Testament source). Row 12 is a narrative allusion, not a quotation. Row 23 is Paul's named device, listed separately from allusion and typology. Row 25 is one Old Testament verse quoted by three writers. Row 18 is a passage addressed to Israel, reported as written. Row 22 reports Galatians 3:8 as written, with no statement of what "the gospel" contained. Row 24 says that Paul quotes the commandment and says nothing further.

The Texts, Side by Side

KJV. The introducing formula is in gold.

1

Matthew 1:22–23 ← Isaiah 7:14

Israel line · Quotation (direct) · Marked by the text

Matthew ties the birth to a word spoken by the prophet.

NEW TESTAMENT (KJV)

1:22 Now all this was done, that it might be fulfilled which was spoken of the Lord by the prophet, saying, 1:23 Behold, a virgin shall be with child, and shall bring forth a son, and they shall call his name Emmanuel, which being interpreted is, God with us.

OLD TESTAMENT (KJV)

7:14 Therefore the Lord himself shall give you a sign; Behold, a virgin shall conceive, and bear a son, and shall call his name Immanuel.

2 Matthew 2:15 ← Hosea 11:1

Israel line · Quotation (direct) · Marked by the text

A line about Israel's exodus is cited of the Child.

NEW TESTAMENT (KJV)

2:15 And was there until the death of Herod: that it might be fulfilled which was spoken of the Lord by the prophet, saying, Out of Egypt have I called my son.

OLD TESTAMENT (KJV)

11:1 When Israel was a child, then I loved him, and called my son out of Egypt.

3 Matthew 4:4, 7, 10 ← Deuteronomy 8:3; 6:16; 6:13

Israel line · Quotation (direct) · Marked by the text

Three answers to the tempter, each from Deuteronomy 6–8.

NEW TESTAMENT (KJV)

4:4 But he answered and said, It is written, Man shall not live by bread alone, but by every word that proceedeth out of the mouth of God. 4:7 Jesus said unto him, It is written again, Thou shalt not tempt the Lord thy God. 4:10 Then saith Jesus unto him, Get thee hence, Satan: for it is written, Thou shalt worship the Lord thy God, and him only shalt thou serve.

OLD TESTAMENT (KJV)

8:3 And he humbled thee, and suffered thee to hunger, and fed thee with manna, which thou knewest not, neither did thy fathers know; that he might make thee know that man doth not live by bread only, but by every word that proceedeth out of the mouth of the LORD doth man live. 6:16 Ye shall not tempt the LORD your God, as ye tempted him in Massah. 6:13 Thou shalt fear the LORD thy God, and serve him, and shalt swear by his name.

4 Mark 1:2–3 ← Malachi 3:1; Isaiah 40:3

Israel line · Quotation (composite) · Marked by the text

One "in the prophets" introduction covers two Old Testament sources.

NEW TESTAMENT (KJV)

1:2 As it is written in the prophets, Behold, I send my messenger before thy face, which shall prepare thy way before thee. 1:3 The voice of one crying in the wilderness, Prepare ye the way of the Lord, make his paths straight.

OLD TESTAMENT (KJV)

3:1 Behold, I will send my messenger, and he shall prepare the way before me: and the LORD, whom ye seek, shall suddenly come to his temple, even the messenger of the covenant, whom ye delight in: behold, he shall come, saith the LORD of hosts. 40:3 The voice of him that crieth in the wilderness, Prepare ye the way of the LORD, make straight in the desert a highway for our God.

5 Luke 4:17–21 ← Isaiah 61:1–2; 58:6

Israel line · Quotation (composite) · Marked by the text

Read in the synagogue; the reading stops before "the day of vengeance".

NEW TESTAMENT (KJV)

4:18 The Spirit of the Lord is upon me, because he hath anointed me to preach the gospel to the poor; he hath sent me to heal the brokenhearted, to preach deliverance to the captives, and recovering of sight to the blind, to set at liberty them that are bruised, 4:19 To preach the acceptable year of the Lord. 4:20 And he closed the book, and he gave it again to the minister, and sat down. And the eyes of all them that were in the synagogue were fastened on him. 4:21 And he began to say unto them, This day is this scripture fulfilled in your ears.

OLD TESTAMENT (KJV)

61:1 The Spirit of the Lord GOD is upon me; because the LORD hath anointed me to preach good tidings unto the meek; he hath sent me to bind up the brokenhearted, to proclaim liberty to the captives, and the opening of the prison to them that are bound; 61:2 To proclaim the acceptable year of the LORD, and the day of vengeance of our God; to comfort all that mourn; 58:6 Is not this the fast that I have chosen? to loose the bands of wickedness, to undo the heavy burdens, and to let the oppressed go free, and that ye break every yoke?

6 John 3:14–15 ← Numbers 21:9

Israel line · Allusion (typological) · Marked by the text

The Lord makes the comparison himself with "as … even so".

NEW TESTAMENT (KJV)

3:14 And as Moses lifted up the serpent in the wilderness, even so must the Son of man be lifted up:
3:15 That whosoever believeth in him should not perish, but have eternal life.

OLD TESTAMENT (KJV)

21:9 And Moses made a serpent of brass, and put it upon a pole, and it came to pass, that if a serpent had bitten any man, when he beheld the serpent of brass, he lived.

Seven quotations in one chapter, laid end to end.

NEW TESTAMENT (KJV)

1:5 For unto which of the angels said he at any time, Thou art my Son, this day have I begotten thee? And again, I will be to him a Father, and he shall be to me a Son? 1:8 But unto the Son he saith, Thy throne, O God, is for ever and ever: a sceptre of righteousness is the sceptre of thy kingdom.

OLD TESTAMENT (KJV)

2:7 I will declare the decree: the LORD hath said unto me, Thou art my Son; this day have I begotten thee. 7:14 I will be his father, and he shall be my son. If he commit iniquity, I will chasten him with the rod of men, and with the stripes of the children of men: 45:6 Thy throne, O God, is for ever and ever: the sceptre of thy kingdom is a right sceptre.

11 Hebrews 8:8–10 ← Jeremiah 31:31–33

The longest Old Testament quotation in the New, reported as written.

NEW TESTAMENT (KJV)

8:8 For finding fault with them, he saith, Behold, the days come, saith the Lord, when I will make a new covenant with the house of Israel and with the house of Judah: 8:9 Not according to the covenant that I made with their fathers in the day when I took them by the hand to lead them out of the land of Egypt; because they continued not in my covenant, and I regarded them not, saith the Lord. 8:10 For this is the covenant that I will make with the house of Israel after those days, saith the Lord; I will put my laws into their mind, and write them in their hearts: and I will be to them a God, and they shall be to me a people:

OLD TESTAMENT (KJV)

31:31 Behold, the days come, saith the LORD, that I will make a new covenant with the house of Israel, and with the house of Judah: 31:32 Not according to the covenant that I made with their fathers in the day that I took them by the hand to bring them out of the land of Egypt; which my covenant they brake, although I was an husband unto them, saith the LORD: 31:33 But this shall be the covenant that I will make with the house of Israel; After those days, saith the LORD, I will put my law in their inward parts, and write it in their hearts; and will be their God, and they shall be my people.

12 Hebrews 11:17–19 ← Genesis 22:2

Israel line · Allusion (narrative) · Marked by the text

Retells the account and quotes no formula; Hebrews 11 does this throughout.

NEW TESTAMENT (KJV)

11:17 By faith Abraham, when he was tried, offered up Isaac: and he that had received the promises offered up his only begotten son, 11:18 Of whom it was said, That in Isaac shall thy seed be called: 11:19 Accounting that God was able to raise him up, even from the dead; from whence also he received him in a figure.

OLD TESTAMENT (KJV)

22:2 And he said, Take now thy son, thine only son Isaac, whom thou lovest, and get thee into the land of Moriah; and offer him there for a burnt offering upon one of the mountains which I will tell thee of.

13 James 2:23 ← Genesis 15:6

Paul says "which things are an allegory".

NEW TESTAMENT (KJV)

4:22 For it is written, that Abraham had two sons, the one by a bondmaid, the other by a freewoman. 4:23 But he who was of the bondwoman was born after the flesh; but he of the freewoman was by promise. 4:24 Which things are an allegory: for these are the two covenants; the one from the mount Sinai, which gendereth to bondage, which is Agar.

OLD TESTAMENT (KJV)

21:2 For Sarah conceived, and bare Abraham a son in his old age, at the set time of which God had spoken to him.

24 Ephesians 6:2–3 ← Exodus 20:12

Paul's letters · Quotation (direct) · Marked by the text

Paul quotes the commandment, and the row says nothing further.

NEW TESTAMENT (KJV)

6:2 Honour thy father and mother; (which is the first commandment with promise;) 6:3 That it may be well with thee, and thou mayest live long on the earth.

OLD TESTAMENT (KJV)

20:12 Honour thy father and thy mother: that thy days may be long upon the land which the LORD thy God giveth thee.

One verse quoted by three writers in three letters.

NEW TESTAMENT (KJV)

1:17 For therein is the righteousness of God revealed from faith to faith: as it is written, The just shall live by faith. 3:11 But that no man is justified by the law in the sight of God, it is evident: for, The just shall live by faith. 10:38 Now the just shall live by faith: but if any man draw back, my soul shall have no pleasure in him.

OLD TESTAMENT (KJV)

2:4 Behold, his soul which is lifted up is not upright in him: but the just shall live by his faith.

Part 6 · How to Use This Guide

1. Start with the audience. For any New Testament passage, ask who is being written to before asking what the Old Testament text is doing.
2. Open both texts. Read the Old Testament passage in its own setting before reading the New Testament use.
3. Look for the marker. Is there a formula ("it is written," "that it might be fulfilled")? Is there a word like "figure," "examples" or "an allegory"? Mark what the text itself states.
4. Keep the tags honest. Where you infer a link, say that you are inferring.
5. Stay with the passage. The aim is to see what the writer did with the text, not to settle every question about how.

One God, faithful across two programs that never merge.
